Logline

Two young women find themselves in a situation that neither is equipped to handle.
Set against the backdrop of a peaceful cemetery on a summer's afternoon, this short film explores the sometimes accidental connections we make.

Synopsis

Emma, home from college over summer break, has to cover the office for her father at the cemetery he runs while he attends a last minute, important meeting. She's about to close up for the day when Patricia, about Emma's age, enters. Lost, confused, and unsure which questions to ask, Patricia looks to the only person there when she needs help burying her brother- Emma.

Emma's never been alone in the office before and Patricia has never had to make these decisions. The two butt heads but ultimately find that the other has something to offer they didn't realize they needed.
